More High Definition for CRTV Members!

16 May 2006 Press Release

CRTV enjoyed a steady stream of existing members and information-seekers alike at the Home & Garden show on April 28, 29 and 30. Industry professionals and CRTV representatives were on hand to answer the many questions related to Cable Services offered by CRTV. One recurring question was “When will you be adding to your High Definition programming?” It seems that many people are opting for the sleek, wall-mounted HDTV’s and want to enjoy the programming that is designed for them.

Two new Channels, CBC HD and CTV HD are now officially live on Channels 289 and 290 respectively. These channels are in addition to the HDTV package, which includes FOX HD East and West, NBC HD East and West, CBS HD East and West, PBS HD and ABC HD. Subscribers with a High Definition set-top box would be able to receive these channels at no additional charge. CRTV General Manager, Jim Forsyth cautions, “There are expenses incurred in carrying these Channels. While we do not currently charge for the HD package, we will need to pass these charges on to the viewer at some point. Of course, in true CRTV form, these charges will be nominal for the value received.”

An addition to the Digital lineup is The Fight Network, which will be joining the Sports Package as channel 135. The Fight Network boasts “All fights all the time”. This will bring the Sports Package up to 13 Digital Channels of great sports action plus HD Channel, Rogers Sportsnet. Negotiations are still under way to add TSN HD to the Sports Package.
